Security Center- Home Improvement Scam

We are alerting our members of a disturbing scam currently circulating in our community. Scammers are posing as a variety of individuals and are directing victims to go into their bank and withdraw large sums of money under false pretenses—often telling victims to say it's for “home improvement projects,” “legal emergencies,” or “special promotions.” These scammers are persuasive and may coach you on what to say to avoid raising suspicion.

What to watch out for:

- A phone call claiming you've won money, owe taxes, or must assist with an “investigation”
- Being told to keep the transaction secret—even from your bank or family
- Instructions to withdraw cash and give it to someone or deposit it elsewhere
- The use of pressure tactics or threats if you question their request

What You Should Do:

- ✓ Stop and think: Legitimate organizations will never ask you to withdraw cash in secrecy.
- ✓ Contact us immediately if you're ever unsure. Our team is trained to spot scams and help.
- ✓ Click here to visit our Security Center regularly for alerts, tips, and helpful resources.
